We invite you to be part of the 14th Catherine Programme Summer School

The Catherine Programme Summer School 2020 will take place from Sunday 16 August to Saturday 22 August in The Netherlands.

Mission and aim of the programme

The Catherine Programme provides grounding in The Salvation Army identity and mission for officers (in training), salvationists and employees in leading positions. The Catherine Programme Summer School (CPSS) fulfils this Catherine Programme mission by teaching Salvation Army subjects as history, theology and practical ministry, within an European Salvation Army setting. The Catherine Programme is named after 'the Army mother' Catherine Booth-Mumford who emphasised the importance of studying alongside hands-on work.

Background

The Salvation Army is an organisation that is one in its kind. It is a movement that is a church and an organisation for social work. It has members and people that are employed by it. It is worldwide, working in more than 130 countries with all kind of differences and yet one strong identity and culture with a long standing tradition since 1865.

For those who recently have taken up or are preparing to take up the position as an officer and for those who work as an employee on a key-position, it is necessary to know about this background of The Salvation Army. It helps to do one's work more inspired and more in line with what is in the heart of the organisation: the love of Jesus Christ, and the care for those who are in need.

In many mainland European countries officers, cadets and employees receive their training and education at external (theological) colleges or universities. These colleges and universities offer excellent education, but, naturally, they do not provide teaching relating to specific Salvation Army topics and culture.

The Catherine Programme will provide in this gap and organises a Summer School in which participants are offered lectures with an introduction in history, doctrine, social work of The Salvation Army. These lectures are offered in an international atmosphere in which the meeting of one another, and the 'learning together' are important. In all Summer the applications. When the maximum capacity has been reached, participants will be placed on a waiting list. The Catherine Programme Committee does not make reservations for a number of places for a territory or command. The maximum amount of participants from a territory, command or region is 20.

Sending in applications is possible from 15 February till 1 June.

Teaching materials and e-mail

For reason of logistics and to save paper, all CPSS correspondence is done through the CP website, CP-Online and e-mails.

When application is accepted, participants receive an account for CP-Online. In it all information about CPSS and on-line resources can be found. All correspondence will be done by e-mail, therefore participants must have an e-mail address.

Hand-outs are available on-line and are downloadable from CP-online. There will be no printed hand-outs. Participants who want to use the hand-outs during the lectures should bring their own laptop or tablet with them to the CPSS.

Certificate

All participants will receive a Certificate of Attendance.

Reflection report

Participants in both courses are invited to write a reflection report, containing reflections on books read, lectures heard and impressions throughout the programme. Those participants who wrote a sufficient reflection will receive a certificate for this. Some territories or commands may make this obligatory for (some of) their participants smart clothing. During lectures, a (polo) shirt with the Salvation Army logo with uniform/smart trousers or skirt may be worn.

Finance

The fee for the course is € 570,-. This includes full board and lodging during the course, an excursion, teaching materials and administrative costs. Travelling to and from Belmont is not included in this fee.

In a spirit of solidarity, we ask financially independent territories with moderate travelling costs to the Netherlands (at present Switzerland, Germany and the Netherlands) to pay an additional € 100,- per delegate, thereby reducing the costs for participants from Eastern and Southern Europe to € 470,-.

The fee for an interpreter is € 355,-.

When a participant is withdrawn from participation during the months June and July a territory or command still pays half a fee.

When a participant is withdrawn from participation during the month August or does not show up at the Summer School a territory or command still pays the full fee.

A territory or command can replace a withdrawn participant by an other new participant. In that case it is not necessary to pay an extra fee.

Fees are charged by the Catherine Programme Committee to the territories, commands and regions through the C-account at IHQ after the Summer School. No other way of paying is possible.
