

CATHERINE PROGRAMME SUMMER SCHOOL 2024

We invite you to be part of the 17th
Catherine Programme Summer School

The Catherine Programme Summer School 2024 will take place from Sunday 18 August to Saturday 24 August in The Netherlands.

2024

The Catherine Programme helps to do one's work more inspired and more in line with what is in the heart of the organisation:

the love of Jesus Christ, and the care for those who are in need.

BACKGROUND

The Salvation Army is an organisation that is one in its kind. It is a movement that is a church and an organisation for social work. It has members and employees. It is worldwide, working in more than 130 countries with all kinds of differences and yet one strong identity and culture with a long-standing tradition since 1865.

For those who recently have taken up or are preparing to take up the position as an officer and for those who work as an employee in a key-position, it is necessary to know about this background of The Salvation Army. It helps to do one's work more inspired and more in line with what is in the heart of the organisation: the love of Jesus Christ, and the care for those who are in need.

The Catherine Programme Summer School offers lectures with an introduction in history, doctrine and social work of The Salvation Army. These lectures take place in an international atmosphere in which the meeting of one another, and the 'learning together' are important. Beside the sharing of knowledge, in the Summer School much emphasis is placed on the calling of the participant, be it as an officer or as an employee.

The first Catherine Programme was in February 2007 in Basel. Nowadays yearly about 80 participants from about 15 countries come together for this Summer School. The Catherine Programme is named after 'the Army mother' Catherine Booth who emphasised the importance of studying.

MISSION AND AIM OF THE PROGRAMME

The Catherine Programme provides grounding in The Salvation Army identity and mission for officers (in training), salvationists and employees in leading positions. The Catherine Programme Summer School (CPSS) fulfils this Catherine Programme mission by teaching Salvation Army subjects as history, theology, and practical ministry, within an European Salvation Army setting. The Catherine Programme is named after 'the Army mother' Catherine Booth-Mumford who emphasised the importance of studying alongside hands-on work.

LANGUAGE

The main language used at the CPSS is English. It is the responsibility of each territory to arrange translation for participants who are unable to follow the lectures in English. As far as possible, group work and discussions will take place in language groups.

DRESS CODE

On specified occasions Salvationists are required to wear summer uniform, and other delegates smart clothing. During lectures participants wear recognisable Salvation Army clothing.

FINANCE

The fee for the course is € 745,-. This includes full board and lodging during the course, an excursion, teaching materials and administrative costs. Travelling to and from Belmont is not included in this fee.

In a spirit of solidarity, we ask financially independent territories with moderate travelling costs to the Netherlands (at present Switzerland, Germany, and the Netherlands) to pay an additional € 100,- per delegate, thereby reducing the costs for participants from the Southern European territories and Eastern European regions with € 100,-.

For this price participants share a room with one other participant. Participants can indicate with whom they want to share room.

In case someone wants to have a single room for whatever reason, an extra € 350,- will be charged for that participant.

The fee for a translator is € 545,-.
Translators have a single room free of charge.

CANCELLATION

When a participant withdraws from participation during the months June and July a territory still pays half a fee.

When a participant withdraws from participation during the month August or does not show up at the Summer School a territory still pays the full fee.

A territory can replace a withdrawn participant by an other new participant. In that case it is not necessary to pay an extra fee.

Fees are charged by the Catherine Programme Committee to the territories through the C-account at IHQ after the Summer School. No other way of paying is possible.

APPLICATION PROCEDURE

The selection of delegates for the CPSS is the responsibility of Leadership of the Territory in correspondence with their Training Leader. Selected participants fill in an on-line application. The link to the online form will be available from the Leadership and/or Training Leader(s) in every territory.

Participants will be placed in the CPSS in order of receipt of the applications. When the maximum capacity has been reached, participants will be placed on a waiting list. The Catherine Programme Committee does not make reservations.

Sending in applications is possible from 1 March till 1 June.
